

ASIL Background Information

About Us

The American Society of International Law is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, educational membership organization founded in 1906 and chartered by Congress in 1950. ASIL holds Category II Consultative Status to the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations and is a constituent society of the American Council of Learned Societies. The Society is headquartered at Tillar House in Washington, D.C.

The mission of the American Society of International Law is to foster the study of international law and to promote the establishment and maintenance of international relations on the basis of law and justice.

The Society's 4,000 members from nearly 100 nations include attorneys, academics, corporate counsel, judges, representatives of governments and nongovernmental organizations, international civil servants, students, and others interested in international law.

Activities

Through its meetings, publications, information services and outreach programs, ASIL advances international law scholarship and education for international law professionals as well as for broader policy-making audiences and the public.

While its educational mission remains as central today as it was at the Society's founding, ASIL programs have adapted to dramatic changes in international law, as both an expansive topic and an evolving professional discipline. The Society celebrated its Centennial in 2006 under the theme "A Just World Under Law."

Publications

ASIL publications are recognized as indispensable information sources in the field of international law. Print periodicals include:

American Journal of International Law

International Legal Materials

ASIL Newsletter

International Legal Theory

Proceedings of the ASIL Annual Meeting

ASIL Insights, International Law In Brief, and Judicial Monitor are distributed electronically at no charge. Subscriptions to all ASIL publications are available at www.asil.org.

Electronic Research Tools

In addition to its printed publications and email newsletters, ASIL offers a wealth of electronic resources on international law to members, students, legal scholars, media representatives, and the general public. Notable are

Electronic Information System for International Law (EISIL), www.eisil.org
ASIL Guide to Electronic Resources, available at www.asil.org.

Leadership

ASIL's Officers and Executive Council are leading the Society into an era of direct networking between members around the world – through conferences, meetings, and publications, as well as by means of electronic communications and information resources.

ASIL Officers

Honorary President	Thomas Buergenthal, International Court of Justice
President	Lucy Reed, Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer
Executive Vice President and Executive Director	Elizabeth Andersen, ASIL
Vice President	Bernard Oxman, University of Miami
Vice President	Charles Hunnicutt, Troutman Sanders
Vice President	Donald Donovan, Debevoise & Plimpton
Vice President	Adrien Wing, University of Iowa
Secretary	Frederic L. Kirgis, Washington & Lee
Treasurer	Nancy L. Perkins, Arnold & Porter

Media Contacts

ASIL has compiled a directory of knowledgeable professionals available to talk with journalists and provide facts and insight on particular areas of international law. They are grouped according to topic expertise in the Press Center section of www.asil.org.

Media inquiries should be directed to Sheila Ward, Director of Communications and Member Relations, at +1-202-939-6018 or sward@asil.org.