ASIL RESOURCES FOR SUPREME COURT HEARING OF BOUMEDIENE

WASHINGTON, DC – On the eve of the U.S. Supreme Court’s December 5 hearing of the latest case relating to U.S. detention at Guantanamo Bay, the American Society of International Law (ASIL) has made available a selection of web-based resources on the Military Commissions Act of 2006, viewable at <http://www.asil.org/resources/mca.html>. The material includes analysis and comments by ASIL members on the Act, provisions of which will be under review in the hearing of Boumediene v. Bush.

For more details or to speak with an ASIL member expert on the Military Commissions Act, contact Sheila Ward, ASIL Director of Communications and Member Relations, at sward@asil.org or 1-202-939-6018.

ASIL is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, educational membership organization. It was founded in 1906, chartered by the U.S. Congress in 1950, and has held Category II Consultative Status to the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations since 1993. ASIL’s mission is to foster the study of international law and to promote the establishment and maintenance of international relations on the basis of law and justice. The Society’s 4,000 members (from nearly 100 countries) comprise attorneys, academics, corporate counsel, judges, representatives of governments and nongovernmental organizations, international civil servants, students, and others interested in international law. For more information, visit www.asil.org.
