ASIL RESOURCES RELATED TO BOUMEDIENE DECISION

WASHINGTON, DC –The American Society of International Law (ASIL) has several resources available that provide background and expertise on the international law related to the 2006 Military Commissions Act, which came under examination in today’s Boumediene v. Bush ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Those resources can be accessed at <http://www.asil.org/resources/mca.html>. For more details or to speak with an ASIL member expert, contact Sheila Ward, Director of Communications and Member Relations, at sward@asil.org or 1-202-939-6018.

ASIL is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, educational membership organization. It was founded in 1906, chartered by the U.S. Congress in 1950, and has held Category II Consultative Status to the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations since 1993. ASIL’s mission is to foster the study of international law and to promote the establishment and maintenance of international relations on the basis of law and justice. The Society’s 4,000 members (from nearly 100 countries) comprise attorneys, academics, corporate counsel, judges, representatives of governments and nongovernmental organizations, international civil servants, students, and others interested in international law.
