An Interview with Meg Kinnear, Secretary General of the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes:

INSIGHTS INTO THE ICSID RULES AMENDMENT

The International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes (ICSID) embarked on the fourth ICSID Rules amendment process in ICSID history in October 2016. The ICSID Rules Amendment process has now significantly advanced. Over the past three years, ICSID has released three working papers with draft proposals for amendment, issued compilations of comments received from various stakeholders and conducted three extensive in-person consultations with States as well as numerous presentations to various stakeholders. Its objective is “a modern, sophisticated and balanced set of investment dispute settlement rules that will ensure both due process and an effective process.”

We are pleased to have Meg Kinnear, the Secretary-General of ICSID, discuss the evolution of the proposed changes to the rules, where they stand today, and the next steps. Secretary-General will also share her insights into the ICSID Rules Amendment process in the context of the ongoing investor-state dispute settlement reforms.

Guest Speaker: Meg Kinnear, the Secretary-General of the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes
